November, 2012

Gator Steven

My assignment of Male Chiron to the Female planets was surprising that there were so few major aspects. One of the higher Chi Square outcomes is the trine of the Male Chiron to the Female Chiron. The trine being supportive and accepting, the male wounded healer to the females.

FEMALE MERCURY TO MALE PLANETS
10-15-2012

Mercury is said to rule our communication and thinking. The most often aspect is Mercury trine to the Male Sun. Communication the their male partner is obviously very important. Also important is the fourth house cusp, the home and family. Interesting to me is the higher seldom, or less frequently occurring, is Mercury to the man's Neptune, the planet of illusion and confusion.

MALE VERTEX TO FEMALE PLANETS
ASTRO-INVESTIGATOR DIANE -- 11/14/2012

The vertex is the intersection of the prime vertical with the ecliptic in the west. The application of this point to astrological work was first proposed by the work of L. Edward Johndro in collaboration with Charles Jayne. Jayne felt this point was fated, much like the Lunar Nodes, and that it represented matters beyond our control. The vertex is located on the turning point of the chart, located in the 5th through the 8th houses. Therefore, just as the vertex represents a turning point in the chart, it represents a turning point in the life of the native. Also known as the "Gate of Destiny" because of this point's close association with meeting people. When you come to this gate, your life will be affected in a deep and transforming way. How do we arrive at this gate? By aspect of course ! In synastry, we look to the personal planets plus the Ascendant and Midheaven to have a conjunction with the vertex of the partner. I expanded on this to make certain nothing would be overlooked. I added Jupiter and Saturn to the planets, and all the Ptolemaic aspects plus the semi-sextile and the quincunx. The male Vertex trine the female Venus returned strong results, as did the man's Vertex quincunx the woman's Sun. The trine to Venus makes perfect sense, the male would see her as his "gateway" to all that Venus has to offer. The quincunx to her Sun would be the subject of many interesting coffee table conversations. Also of great interest are the sextiles and trines to the angles. I had expected involvement at the ASC and the MC, in accordance with accepted astrological teachings, but it was the ASC and the DS that produced the greatest result.

Female Venus in Relation to Male Planets by Gator Pamela Kokott 11/14/2012

This includes planets and ASC, MID and DSC in the chart of the Male. Please note in regards to Venus, I did not expect to see Venus making a conjunction to Uranus and the research for a Female Venus proves this to be the case.

When looking at the Major aspects:

- Female Venus square the Male Jupiter
- Female Venus opposing Male Uranus (1st/7th house needs to be researched further)
- Female Venus sextile Male Moon
- Female Venus Conjunct the ascendant of the male
- Female Venus Opposing the Descendant of the male

This part of the research warrants a deeper look into aspects between the ascendant/ descendant with Venus. The conjunction and opposition over the 1st and 7th house cusp with Venus may be an important link for marriage partners.

Surprise aspect: Female Venus Square Male Mars happened often

FEMALE MARS TO MALE CHARTS 12/11/2012 – Astro Investigator Franco

My portion of our analyses was to examine the connection from the female's Ascendant to the male's planets (N.B. male planets are noted as NATAL). The highest occurring aspect can be expected as the woman's ascendant is conjunct the man's Neptune which would be that draw of romance. The other two aspect that follow as occurring often are the woman's Ascendant semi-squaring both Mars and Pluto. This would seem to be some women's draw to the bad boy characteristics.

A woman's Mars opposite a man's Venus comes in second where the draw could be the draw of the opposite sex. This is followed by the Mars to the Man's moon connections where her sex appeal connects to what he desires either by connection or the thrill of the chase. These are followed by the Jupiter opposition with a Chi Square of 86.6.

Mercury aspects in relationship charts by Gator Guy Matarasso 24 October 2012

My assignment was to check the male Mercury aspects to the female planets. Mercury rules communication in general, and the way we think and communicate in specific. I think that communication is the most important element in any relationship. If a couple can't talk and understand one another - they are doomed to failure in their relationship. It will never last long no matter how much they love or have physical attractions to each other. We can see from my assignment that Mercury has a lot of impact! Most of the charts came up with the male Mercury sextile the female planets. When you examine relationship charts - look for Mercury aspects!

Men's Moons to Women's Planets 10/29/12 Gator Charlie Edgerton

In Astrology, a person's Sun represents their identity, life's purpose and conscious mind. The Moon (that which reflects the sun's light) represents a person's personality, habits, needs and their unconscious senses and feelings. Thus the Moon is more representative of the more female side of a person, Jung's anima, and the Sun, the more male side, Jung's animus. We all have both inside of us.

To analyze the Male Moon's preponderance of connections to all of his mate's planets, and thus all of hers to his Moon only, is, therefore, an exercise in how women relate to the reflective, unconscious side of their men.

The most predominant aspect was a square from the women's Mars. Square is tension and Mars is really the animus (not the Sun), suggesting a curious, stressful need for engagement / involvement between the male energy inside many women and the female energy inside their men.

he next two most often occurring aspects were conjunctions (con joining) of the Male Moon to the Female Moon and to the Female Sun; and then after that, sextiles (ease of flow of energy) between the two Moons. This only makes sense, as the Sun and the Moon are the two most important planets in a person's chart.

The three aspects which reflect a preponderance against certain connections were male Moon : trine female Midheaven, conjunct female Venus and trine female Moon, suggesting again that, underneath it all there seems to be a need for tension and not a need for too much ease of pleasant interaction.

The Female Vertex to the Male Planets Gator Franco 10/23/12

My assignment was to examine the connections between the females Vertex and the male's planets. The Vertex is to some a point of "Karmic" or "Fated" connection. It would be prudent to examine the connection between the charts. The Vertex is not a planet and it is a point where the ecliptic crosses the vertical axis and is found between the 5th and 8th house.

The connection to planets expected would be the Sun and Moon or Venus. The Sun is probably the most likely with Vertex conjunct and trine the Sun ranking at 1 and 6 respectively. The Sun conjunct the Vertex has almost a 100% chance of leading to marriage. The next are minor aspects (45° and 30°) and an opposition of Chiron. Now Jupiter (judge and religion) is interestingly involved with the Conjunction and the 30° semi-sextile.

FEMALE CHIRON TO MALE PLANETS 10/23/2012 ASTROVESTIGATOR DIANE

Chiron the Wounded Healer, immortal son of Saturn, who sacrificed his immortality to free Prometheus from his chains; Chiron the mighty Centaur, musician, philosopher and poet. Chiron was the teacher and mentor of Hercules, whose poisoned arrow caused the wound that Chiron bore that would not heal. But we must take note ! Chiron was the one who taught Hercules how to make these poisoned arrows, and it was Chiron himself who dropped it on his own foot. Hence this wound is self-inflicted. Ironically, Chiron could not heal his own wound, yet he was known to heal the wounds of others through natural and homeopathic methods. Ultimately, Chiron gave up his immortal status to free the Titan Prometheus, so that he could end his own suffering from the wound that would not heal. Astrologers have taken up the tale of Chiron and associated it with Object Kowal, a small planetoid, or run away comet that orbits between Saturn and Uranus. Astrology teaches us that were we find Chiron in the chart is the place where you will find suffering on a karmic level. Wounds that will not heal. In relationships, you seek a partner that may act as your Chiron, bringing you healing. That being said, we must remember that Chiron ultimately healed himself though personal sacrifice for another. So how exactly does this fit into relationship astrology? Do we seek a healer? Or do we choose someone that we may make the ultimate sacrifice for? In the research, we start with aspects made by the Female Chiron, to the male's planets. We quickly find that there is no strong statistical indication that Chiron is involved with whom we are attracted to enough to enter in marriage when looking at the major aspects. In deference to the teachings of the Magi, I have also run all of the minor aspects, and the results were so much stronger, especially when looking at the Sun and Moon. We must consider however, that Chiron has a very unusual orbit, taking about 50 years to make the rounds of the zodiac. The time spent in each sign varies greatly because of the elliptical motion. I would like to expand this research at one point to take a look at marriages that were entered into after the Chiron return in the natal chart. The reason for my curiosity is that perhaps once we have this Chiron return, we may be more focused on the giving and receiving of healing in our lives, and our spirituality, than we would be when we are in our twenties, when most of our first marriages occur.

MALE VENUS TO FEMALE PLANETS 10/10/2012 – ASTRO INVESTIGATOR DIANE

One of the highest ranked works of non-fiction in the 1990's was relationship counselor John Gray's work, Men are from Mars, Women are from Venus. The basic gist of his work focused on the ways men and women use their inborn energies in totally different ways. John used the analogy of the lore and legend surrounding the planets Venus and Mars to illustrate these differences. This is something that we as astrologers have known down through the ages ! This planetary pair stands in natural opposition in the zodiac, with Mars ruling the Ascendant, and Venus the Descendant. Venus in the chart shows us what we need, and is the modulator of what turns our minds on in relationships. Mars shows us how we go about obtaining those needs, and Mars controls what turns on the physical side of our natures. The results from our research show us from the start that the old adage, "opposites attract" is true. The opposition between the Male Venus and the Female Mars returned the positive result we would expect. This finding also supports Franco's research, which took a look at this planetary pair from the perspective of the Woman's Venus. The sextile and the semi-sextile also produced a strong result.

FEMALE MARS TO MALE CHARTS

10/10/2012 – Astro Investigator Franco

My portion of our analyses was to examine the connection from the female's Mars to the male's planets (N.B. male planets are noted as NATAL). The highest occurring aspect ended up being a surprise to me and it would to most of you: a female Mars quincunx to the male Neptune with a probability of 99%. Could it be that men secret want a strong warrior woman but have difficulty with the reality or is it there is a sexual fantasy that they playing out.

A woman's Mars opposite a man's Venus comes in second where the draw could be the draw of the opposite sex. This is followed by the Mars to the Man's moon connections where her sex appeal connects to what he desires either by connection or the thrill of the chase.

FEMALE MOON TO MALE CHARTS

9/22/2012 – Astro Investigator Franco

My portion of our analyses was to examine the connection from the female's Moon to the male's planets (N.B. male planets are noted as NATAL). The highest occurrence was what most people would consider good connections in synnastry. As one can see from the female Moon conjuncting the male Moon occurred with the most probability. A sextile between the Moon's follows a bit later on in 7th place. The next highest was the female Moon sextiling the male Sun. The chase of romance signified by the female Moon to the male Neptune ranks 3rd followed by the desire of stability in a trine to Saturn.

MALE ASCENDANT TO FEMALE ASCENDANT

9/14/2012 – Astro Investigator Diane

Astrology puts so much importance and emphasis on which sign is rising on the eastern horizon at our birth, we must take a look at how our ascendant plays a part in our relationships. As we would expect, the sextile and the trine figure most prominently in the evaluation, returning a high number of incidences in which the male ascendant is making a sextile or trine to the female ascendant. Our rising sign is the image we project out into the world, this is what makes up what other people first see in us. For example, mighty Leo is naturally attracted to his fellow members of the fire triplicity, and also the grace and beauty offered by theaAir signs of Gemini and Libra, with whom he is in sextile. We can also see from this preliminary research that at least in the case of the ascendant, the old adage of opposites attract does not apply in the majority of cases !

Male Sun in relation to Female planets Gator Pamela 09/19/12

My portion of the research focused on the male Sun in relation to female certain planets and points including ASC, MC and DSC in the chart of the female. If you look at the data below, there is a high probability of finding male Sun trine female Mercury and male Sun sextile female Saturn. An aspect that is rare in our sample set is male sun opposing female

MC. As for minor aspects that have a high probability, this data suggests:

male Sun sesquiquadrate female Uranus male Sun semisextile female MC male Sun semisextile female Pluto.

Hope this is helpful, Pamela Kokott

Man's Planets to Woman's Sun 9/6/12 -- Astro Investigator Diane

When evaluating the aspects between a man's planets and the woman's Sun, we first see that the soft aspects (conjunction, sextile, and trine) returned the greatest results, just as we would expect in a marriage chart. One of the more interesting results we see is the conjunction of the man's Moon to the female Sun. Just as this aspect represents the New Moon in astrology, could this aspect herald the new relationship between the partners? It will be fascinating to see the importance of the Moon/Sun aspects as we move forward with our marriage research.
